 there is something wrong with him? — OFFICE GANG
 Dear Office Gang: There is no way to tell for sure if something is "wrong" with him. Some perfectly normal males have high-pitched voices, long hair and like pastel shirts.
 By the same token, some masculine-appearing males with deep, rich baritone and crew-cuts are anything but All-American boys.
 Since the person you describe is pleasant, mends his own business, and does his job, why don't you do the same?

Dear Ann: My husband and I belong to a pleasant social club made up of wives and husbands who work for a large company. We meet once a month for dinner at a restaurant.

 He has never come out even yet. Every month something goes haywire. Some couples who sign up don't show. If they have a good excuse such as "the baby got sick" he hasn't got the nerve to collect.

Please suggest a way out—short of resigning — TREASURER'S WIFE

Dear Wife: Why must the dinners be paid for in advance? Surely the restaurant would be willing to allow each couple to pay that night. If not, find another restaurant—or another treasurer.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.
